

1304-1374

PETRARCH

Battle of Inverurie. 'HERSCHIP' of Buchan Battle of Brander. Earl of Ross submitted to Bruce.

1304

Scotland is conquered by Edward I

July 20, 1304

Francesco Petrucci was born in AREZZO on a street called "Garden Lane."

50 Scots held out in impregnable
Stirling Castle against Edward I of England. For 3 months they were under relentless attack from 13 trebuchets.

The church roofs for miles around were stripped of lead for counterweights.
Edward built a tower viewing

I had for Owen Morgan & the ladies of the Court.
50g Edwards Laboratory on the ultramicro machine (normal lamp de source) ("Way")
The defendants now reduced to $ 30 (from 50) offered to surrender. Edwards turned them down. until the "war was was completed & fought a few months at the Court Hall.

1304

The Koh-i-noor diamond was first reported in possession of the Raja of Malwa in India.

For the next 400 yrs it formed part of the treasure of the Mughal Emperors until the Nadir Shah of Persia invaded India in 1739.

1304-1374

Francesco Petrarca, more commonly known as Petrarch. He brought the men of his own age into sympathetic contact with the authors and ideas of the classical world. He collected books and old coins. He urged the preservation of ancient monuments.

1304

Ala ud-Din owned the Koh-i-nor in 1304.

In 1526 it passed to Humayun.
The Persian Nader Shah acquired it in 1739. Ranjit Singh acquired it in 1833 and in 1849 it was presented to Queen Victoria

1304

Bruce's father died -

Comyn surrendered to English Bond between Bruce and Lomberton

Stirling was captured by Edward I

1304

1912 Dates J-BK

(1259-1326) OSMAN (or OTHMAN I) nicknamed
AL-GHAZI, the Conqueror

The founder of the OTTOMAN power, His father, ERTUGRUL, was the chief of the Turks of PHRYGIA in Asia Minor. On his death in 1288, OTHMAN was chosen to succeed him. He conquered all of the western part of Asia Minor, including NICAEA (1304)
MARMORA (1307) and BRUSA (1326)

1304

France warred with Flanders